Bodhrán Care

- Keep your Bodhrán away from excess and direct heat, for example direct sunlight, radiators etc. This will tighten the skin and then it will not sound correctly when you bring it back to room temperature. (Take special care when travelling, especially in cars! Use the boot.)
- When the skin is new, it takes a while for it to soften. Treatment wax can be used - rub a little on to the skin both front and back weekly - for about 3 - 4 weeks and you will also find that the more you play the less wax will be needed. A little patience is needed as this is a natural product and does not transform overnight (like our own skin).
- Playing the bodhran as often as you can is actually the best way of having a nice mellow skin as it takes oils from your hands naturally.
